Knowledge, Service, Character

The school flag is used with the American flag on all formal occasions with its motto setting the standards of Palatine Township high school. Its first appearance this school year was at the student council banquet where Mrs. Darlene Hahnfeld, a new teacher and an assistant student council adviser, saw the flag for the first time. The flag holds special significance for Mrs. Hahnfeld, for she designed it when she was Darlene Tatge, a student at Pal High. Mrs. Hahnfeld, a 1958 graduate of Palatine, entered a school-sponsored contest to design a flag representative of Pal High. The high standards of the school continue today.

Palatine High Grows; Third Building Started

The story of Palatine High School is the story of a united community seeking what is best for its young people. It is the story of three buildings, Wood Street, Quentin Road, two very real buildings, and Schaumburg, a $3,200,000 dream started this spring.

It is only a few years ago that the high school in the farming village of Palatine was emphasizing such useful subjects as home economics and manual training. Only a few years before that the high school was the upper floor of the Wood Street grade school. A building all its own was built in 1928, and the high school became the center of community activity.

The sleepy village began to go suburban about 1950. From 1951 to 1958 additions were made to the Wood Street building until it had a capacity of 1200 students. By 1960-61 the students were attending in shifts. In the fall of 1961 the Quentin Road school, at a cost of approximately $3,000,000, opened to freshmen and sophomores. Built to accomodate 1600 students, it can be enlarged to a capacity of 2500 by the addition of more classrooms. This year the juniors and seniors were quite comfortable at Wood Street. Next year they will be crowded, but the following year they will move to Quentin Road, and Wood Street and the Schamburg building will care for freshmen and sophomores. The Schamburg addition is pictured on the end sheets.

As housing projects appeared everywhere, and the good black soil disappeared, the world beyond Palatine invaded the village with students to be educated and needs to be met. Transfers came from as near as Arlington Heights and Chicago and from as far as England, France, Holland, and Alaska. A changing curriculum was the answer to the needs of the world. More and more the emphasis swung to science and mathematics. An accelerated course in chemistry was opened to sophomores. Russian as a language and as history will be offered next year. A reading lab was opened this year, and a specialist in vocational guidance was added to the staff.

Pal High changes. Its geography changes. Its subject offerings change. Its student body and faculty change, but the community's interest in education and its effort to see that the best is provided for its students do not change.

Deep shade settling over the original section of the Wood Street building sets a quiet rural mood, broken each morning and afternoon by the clamorous coming and going of juniors and seniors. This is the building dear to the hearts of the 1963 seniors.

Additions to the Wood Street high school building were made in the years 1951 through 1958 with the eastern wing housing the gymnasium where many rousing basketball games have been played. The cafeteria, too, was an outgrowth of the remodeling; and it now not only provides dining space for the students in three half-hour lunch periods, but also serves as a hall for Mr. Court's social studies lectures and for a party room for such activities as small banquets, class parties, and after-game sox hops.

Modern, well-equipped shops are also in this wing as are many crowded classrooms and department offices. Traffic through the halls must follow a set pattern, and monitors at strategic points see that it moves swiftly. To the students it seems as if the addition has always been a part of the school, and the lovely trees shade it as impartially as they do the original building.

Rare are the moments when the steps leading into the Quentin Road building are as quiet as they appear here, for with increased enrollments crowding both buildings, many activities such as all-school dances, College Night, Student Council and National Honor Society banquets, and graduation exercises are taking place in this building. Wrestling and gymnastics, among the sports, also take place here. The Quentin Road building also houses the administration offices and is the setting for teachers' institutes. More and more it is becoming the center of high school activity.

The Faculty

Gerald McElroy Guides Pal High

For 20 years the administration of Palatine High School has been guided by Gerald McElroy, who has seen that the school grew in scholarship as it grew in size. As the enrollment and faculty increased almost tenfold, Mr. McElroy led the community through four building programs and an expanding curriculum with emphasis on scholarship for teachers and students.

Even before Mr. McElroy became principal in April 1943, he had become an important part of the academic life of Palatine. Coming in 1931 as math and history teacher and sponsor of the paper and senior class, he soon took on physical education, track and basketball coaching, and school news writing for the PALATINE ENTERPRISE. In 1945 he started golf as a school sport. All of his teams were frequent conference champions. The Palatine Relays were developed by him.

Since 1952 administration duties have cut Mr. McElroy's extra curricular activities, but his interest in all school activities has remained high. A victim this year to his growing responsibilities will be his authoritative sports column "Mac Says," which he has been writing for many years.

His great interest in the students takes Mr. McElroy to many of their activities. Here he waits with Mr. Mills for the Homecoming parade to start, and with Mrs. McElroy he enjoys a Council dinner.

Weekly board meetings were held last fall as board members prepared to tell the patrons the need for a third building. Seated here are Erie Jones, William Fremd, Kenneth Carroll, school business manager, Donald Truitt, president, Harris Helgeson, Robert W. Williamson, and Carl Lewin.

Board Forsees Greater Growth

DAVID MANN

WILLARD A. BROWN

Ground breaking in spring culminated the busiest year in school board history. Informing the community of the need for a third high school building took much of the summer and fall. The passed referendum also carried a provision to buy a fourth school site in northeast Palatine township.

The board has been busy through the winter with building plans..A maintenance garage was built for the busses. While third building plans, a frosh-soph one for Schaumburg, were studied with architect, administration, and faculty, the board hired a professional firm to survey the instructional, personnel, administrative, and organizational aspects of the high school. With an enrollment of 2350 this year and an expected enrollment of 7250 in 1972, the board felt it expedient to have the survey made.

There were changes within the board. Mr. Williamson, for business reasons, resigned, and Willard A. Brown was appointed. Mr. Brown came to the board with a wealth of experience in real estate management and development. In the spring, Mr. Fremd, for reasons of health, announced that he was closing a 25-year career as a high school board member. Counting years served on elementary boards, Mr. Fremd has been helping to make educational policy for more than 35 years.

Principals Direct 2-2 Program

With the addition this year of two full-time assistant principals to the administrative staff, the 2-2 stystem slipped into its second year at Pal High maintaining the unity which is so strongly felt by the community even while each building handled its own problems and activities.

Lawrence Goslin with a master's degree in education from the University of Missouri joined Martin Plate, with 22 years at Pal High, is principal in the junior-senior building. Gordon Anderson, a graduate of the University of Illinois working towards a doctor's degree at Columbia University, is in the frosh-soph building assisting Leonard Newendorp, who has been on the administrative staff since 1959.

If they don't know the answers, the staff of the guidance department will find them for the questions and problems that students and parents bring. Guidance keeps all student records and keeps in touch with all students.

Ray Mills is junior-senior director, and Gerald Mathis is freshman-sophomore director. Their regular staffs are augmented by several teachers who work as part time counselors. These are Donald Nepstad, vocational guidance specialist for the juniors and seniors, and Mrs. Marie Caranci, Stephen Lingell, and Robert Negronida in the frosh-soph building.

Guidance does not wait for the student to enter high school. It begins with a testing and guiding program for all eighth graders. Testing, guiding, and counseling continue all through high school.

Special helps are the College Night program and the speakers from industry. The program to help the student not going to college was given special emphasis this year with the hiring of Mr. Nepstad.

Mrs. Mildred Swanson, registrar in building 1 keeps all records for that building.

Every student at Palatine graduates with a major in English, for four years of this most important subject are necessary for a diploma. Readin' and writin' are taught as basically or as specifically as the students need at the accelerated, average, or remedial level. Freshmen and sophomores include writers from all over the world in their studies. Juniors concentrate solely on American authors, and seniors discover the talents of the English. Palatine English teachers are as varied as the realms of English. In poetry, prose, dramatics, and journalism, each finds a specialty. Many have branched out to foster students' specific interests. Speech, dramatics, journalism, and creative writing have entered Palatine's English offerings. All except speech are being taught for the first time this year, which shows that the increasing enrollment is bringing many students with diverse interests.

Whether one is looking for personal or vocational business skills, Pal High's business department provides adequate opportunities to achieve them.

Most students, even those taking college preparatory courses, take Typing I and II. Other business courses, such as salesmanship, clerical practice, office practice, record keeping, shorthand, and business math and law, are taken by those who wish to follow a definite business career.

Mrs. Olga Smith, head of the department, has been here for eleven years. She and her staff of six set a high standard of efficiency and accuracy in all their work.

Once they have learned the basic skills, students such as Carol Harwood, Karen Boutelle, Cassie Lewandowski, and Mike Turcotte work on picking up speed and maintaining accuracy.

By the end of this school year, Building 1's library will contain almost seven thousand books. Building 2's library is growing too; its vast lengths of shelf space are being filled. Already the change between buildings in 1964 is seen; a few books, though they are more pertinent to upperclassmen, are being kept at Quentin Road.

Palatine High is on the mailing list of ninety-seven periodicals, which keep the libraries supplemented with up-to-date information. Most magazines are after three years removed from the library's files, except for ten which, being of lasting value, are bound. Pamphlets too are kept on stock for more reference material. An "extra" is the conference room containing a professional library for the use of the faculty.

Sources of General Knowledge

The primary aim of the social science department is to provide the student with a well-rounded education in the social, governmental, and historical processes of the world. Burton Showers, head of the department, and the other teachers of the social science staff use outside material, such as Harper's, Atlantic Monthly, Challenge, the American Reader, U.S. News, and books on politics to make their subjects more varied.

The social science department offers the largest number of courses in the school. They range from sociology, psychology, a course added this year, and civics to world geography, American government, and economics. College texts are used in Russian history, Contemporary American history, and Advanced World history.

Team-teaching was introduced this year. Each Friday four classes of American history meet in the cafeteria to hear lectures in the formal style used by many college professors. It is hoped that this new idea, involving Mr. Court, Mr. Stenzel, Mr. McKinley, and Miss Donner, will provide training for taking notes in an atmosphere of strong discipline.

By opening up new vistas of knowledge, the department has experienced renewed interest of the students in the social sciences.

With the belief that communication between the peoples of the world is important, the well-staffed and well-equipped language department seeks to instill in the student an appreciation of the literature, history, and philosophy of a country while teaching him facility in reading, writing, and speaking the language.

"Je vais tres bien" is just one of the phrases the student might learn if he takes French. Besides French, German, Spanish, and Latin are offered. As of 1962, it has been possible for a student to take four years of any of these languages.

In addition to text teaching one of the newest audio-visual devices, the language lab, is being used. This new idea has re-vitalized the interest of many language students.

Through their language classes, students are exposed to foreign cultures. Trips into the "loop" are arranged frequently by the language clubs--perhaps to see a foreign film, to eat at a European type restaurant, or to visit art museums. All these and the actual language provide for the student a realistic view of foreign habits and life.

Mrs. Anderson explains a special use of the subjunctive to Latin II student Rich Ziehm. Since Latin is no longer a spoken language, Latin teachers emphasize reading and do not use the language lab. The modern language teachers, however, such as Miss Thompson in French, have their students use the language lab often to perfect their speaking ability.

Mathematics, a Subject of Joy for Some,

A teacher's help is very important for figuring math problems. Here Mr. Schwind aids John Means to determine the answer, while Betty Grimes seems to be enjoying herself.

This year's mathematics department is headed by Pamela Ames. Mrs. Ames has initiated many changes, especially at the freshman-sophomore level. Modern algebra is being taught to freshmen, and the sophomore level includes both plane and solid geometry in the regular and accelerated classes.

The department offers a wide variety of other courses.

Young Scientists Find Wide Variety

Michele David and Ken Jenks find microscopy an interesting phase of sophomore biology.

This year the science curriculum remains primarily the same as it has been in the past. There is, however, more laboratory work done in Biology 1 on the freshman level. Additional experimental laboratory work is being done in Biology 2.

The science department also offers courses, both regular and advanced, in chemistry and physics. Chemistry has been offered for the first time this year to sophomores who want to major in physical science. Botany and zoology, advanced laboratory courses of a semester each, are also offered.

Student sits in fearful anticipation as she awaits her drivers' test by the state examiner.

Drivers' Education is an integral part of the curriculum at Palatine. This course trains to become safer drivers.

The program provides 30 hours of in class training and 6 hours of behind the wheel training for each student. This year some 400 students participated in this program.

Faculty Services Aid Teachers

Staffing the main office of building 1 are Miss Patricia Blakemore, Mrs. Doris Travis, and nurse, Mrs. Edith Mulcahy.

The efficiency of the office staff of building 1 helps keep the school running smoothly. The women of the staff have various duties such as being secretaries, correcting papers, mimeographing tests and quizzes, operating the switchboard in the main office and keeping thea ttendance records. The office is not an ominous front. An air of friendliness makes a newcomer or most any student at ease

Faculty services of building 1 consists of Mrs. Lyla Goheen, Mrs. Nancy Draeger, Mrs. Peggy Cutler, Mrs. Betty Jane Larkins, and Mrs. Audrae Sheldon.

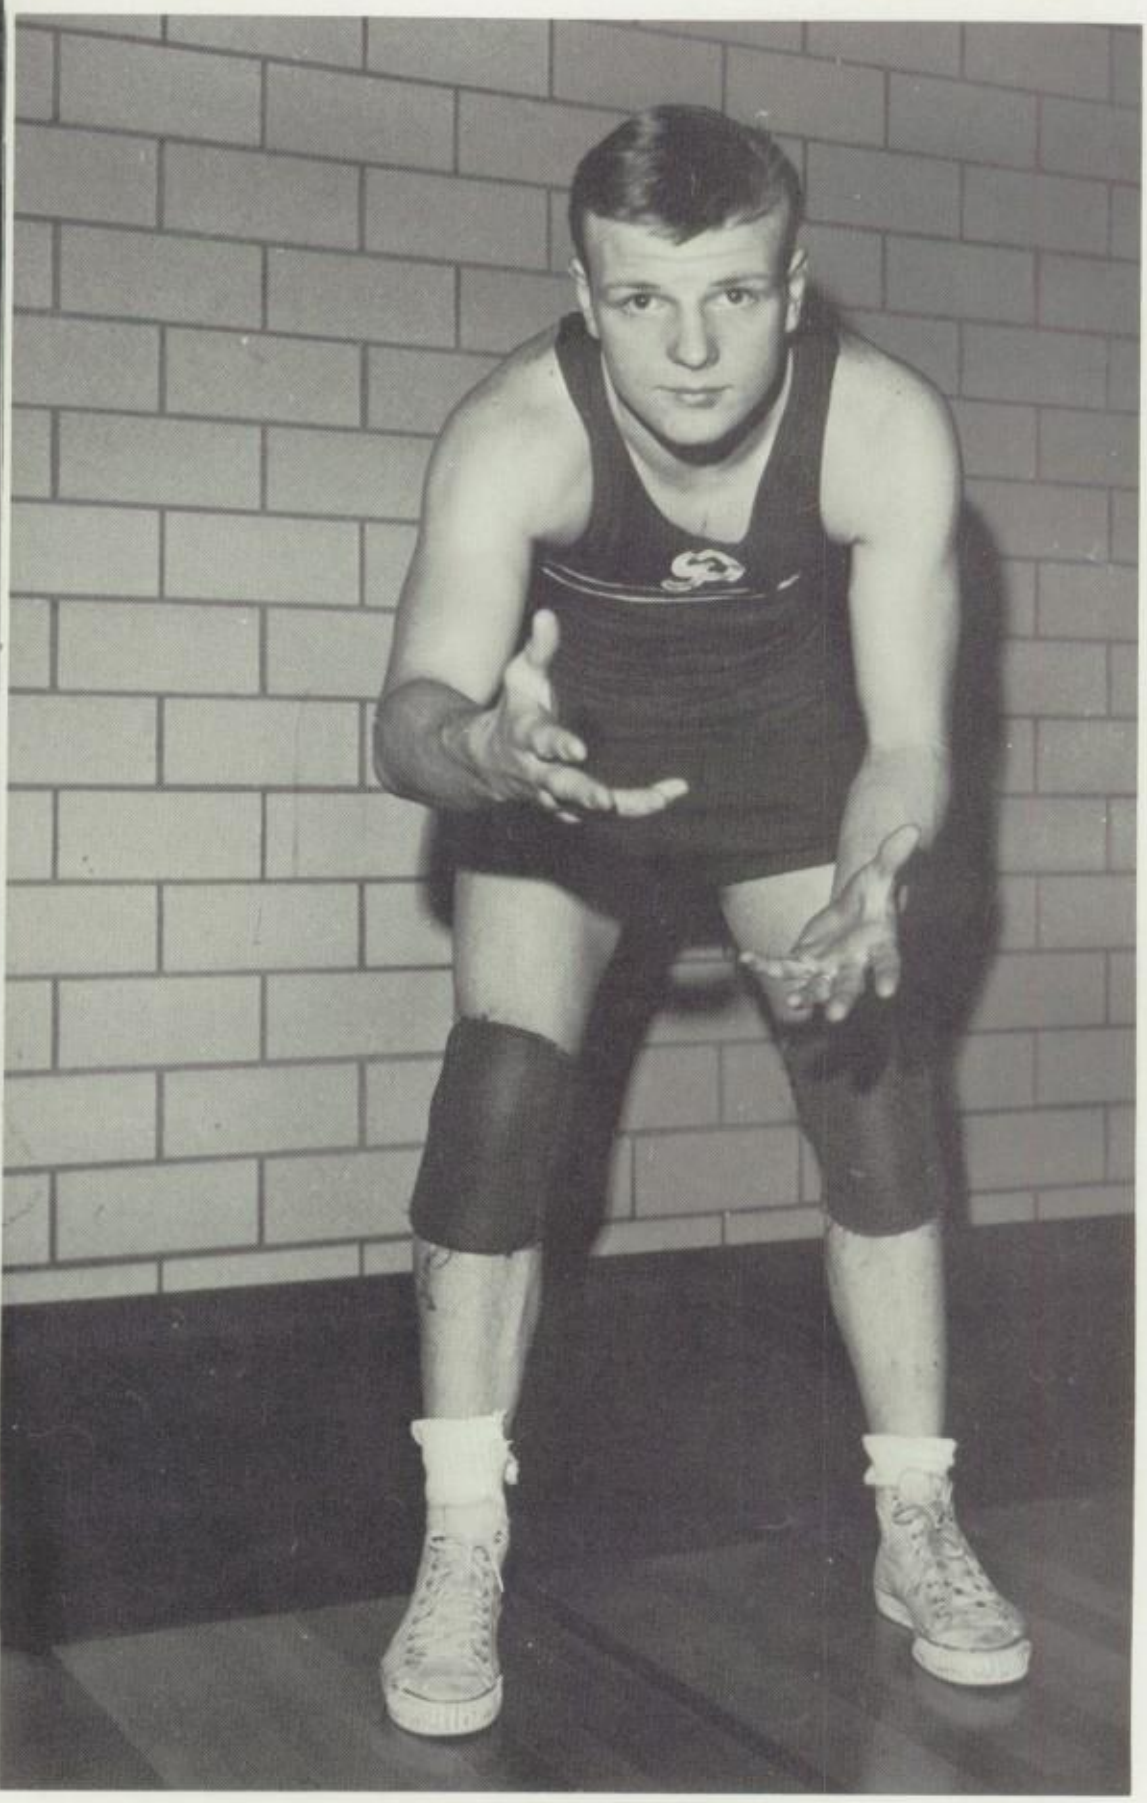
Mrs. Victoria Poklaske, secretary to Mr. Newendorp.

Mrs. Merle Halama, Mrs. Phyllis Moss, Mrs. Helen Witte, and Mrs. Betty Sander, part of the general office staff of building 2.

Besides students and teachers, it takes many other employees to run a school efficiently. Pictured here are some of those people. There are 37 secretaries, 18 custodians, and 27 ladies in the cafeterias on the staffs of both buildings.

The Sports



Harriers Place First in Conference

Ron Frost, Ken Leiviska, Jerry Kusek, and Bob MacLea

Palatine's sophomore harriers were not outdone by the impressive varsity team. Led by speedy Bob MacLea, who ran with the varsity in several meets, the sophs captured the conference title with an 11 - 2 record. They ended a fine season by placing second in the St. Charles Invitational tournament. Outstanding sophomore runners were Bob MacLea, John Rosenberger, Chuck Conley, and Steve Olson.

Ron Frost, Jerry Kusek, and Bob Frost

Stew Rogers and Bob Frost

The Harriers opened Palatine Sports for 1962-63 with a 12-1 record. Coach Joe Johnson's varsity runners won the Conference with Jerry Kusek setting a new course record of 10:25.

The team placed second in the district meet with Kusek first; third in St. Charles Invitational with Kusek first; first at Janesville with Kusek first, and seventh at state with Kusek third.

Other outstanding team members were Stew Rogers, Ken Leviska, Bob McLea, Ron and Bob Frost, and Mike Brandriss.

It takes a lot to get a Pirate down.

Coach Feutz always has an encouraging word.

"Give a little, take a little," seemed to be Palatine's motto in football this year. The Pirates lost their first four games to Grayslake, Libertyville, Barrington, and Dundee, but won their last four, beating Zion, McHenry, Crystal Lake, and Woodstock. In the North Suburban Conference, Palatine tied for third with Zion, behind Barrington and Dundee.

Key men on this year's team were McCreery, who was elected best all-around player, Brooks, Frost, Lang, Warder, and Yokas. Duane Brooks, a junior, was in front for yards gained, rushing, points scored, punting, punt returns, and kickoff returns. The boys were admirably coached by Charles Feutz, John Ellis, and Alan Eck.

Coached by Richard Gavigan and Norman Stenzel, the sophomore team ended with a 5-3 record. Arvid Herstedt, Mervel Miller, and Allan Berman led the freshmen to a 4-1-1 record. Seth Norton and John Warder were two outstanding sophomores who moved up to the varsity team during the season.

Homecoming Win Cheers Students

From the minute the sun rose on October 13, Homecoming Day, everyone at Pal High knew that it was going to be a glorious day. The shirt-sleeve warm weather drew students and townspeople out to watch the parade, an event that had been in jeopardy for several weeks.

It was a day of superlatives. The band blew its sweetest notes. The floats were the cleverest. The girls were their prettiest. The team, smarting under a no-win record, played its finest to pick up a victory and set the pattern for the rest of the season. With victory in the afternoon, the evening dance could be nothing but pure joy.

Frosh-Soph Basketball Teams Play

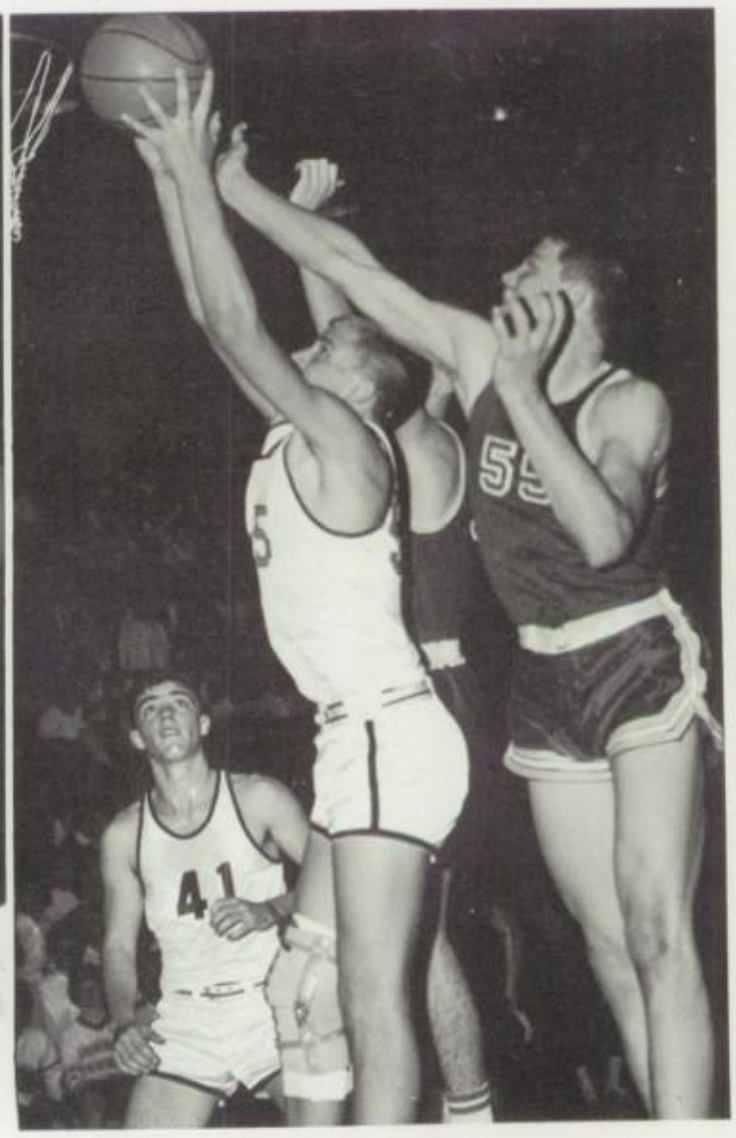
No sleigh bells, but Soph players such as Rick Cooke, 20, Rick Longhenry, 22, Dave Blyth, 41, and Craig Gaare, 55, helped defeat Arlington 36-27.

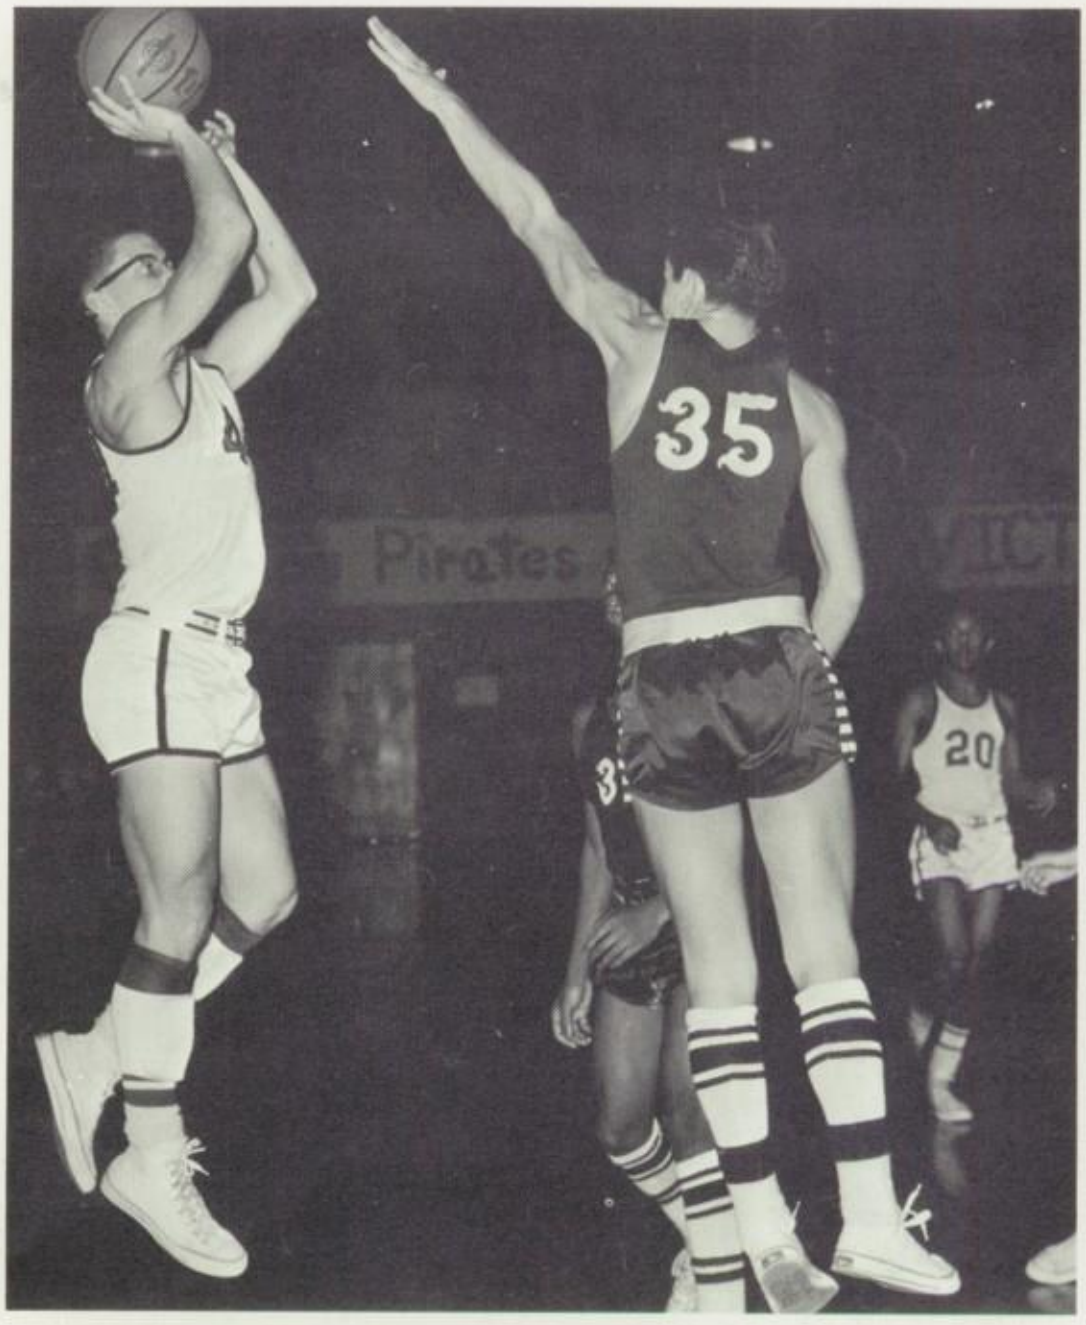


Full Schedule

Varsity coaches watched the sophomore basketball team with pleasure this year, for the season's record of 8-10 did not reflect the team's true potential. Under Coach Gerald Anderson the team produced some hard playing, sharp shooting men.

John Warder, Rick Longhenry, Rick Cooke, Craig Gaare, and David Blyth were leading players, but Coach Anderson had praise for the fine spirit of all of his men.

The freshmen have a few players of their own to watch. Among them are Paul Koslicki, Bob MacLea, Mike Danforth, and Jerry McCormick.



Warder shoots beyond the reach of his opponent.

Kozlicki Breaks Three Records

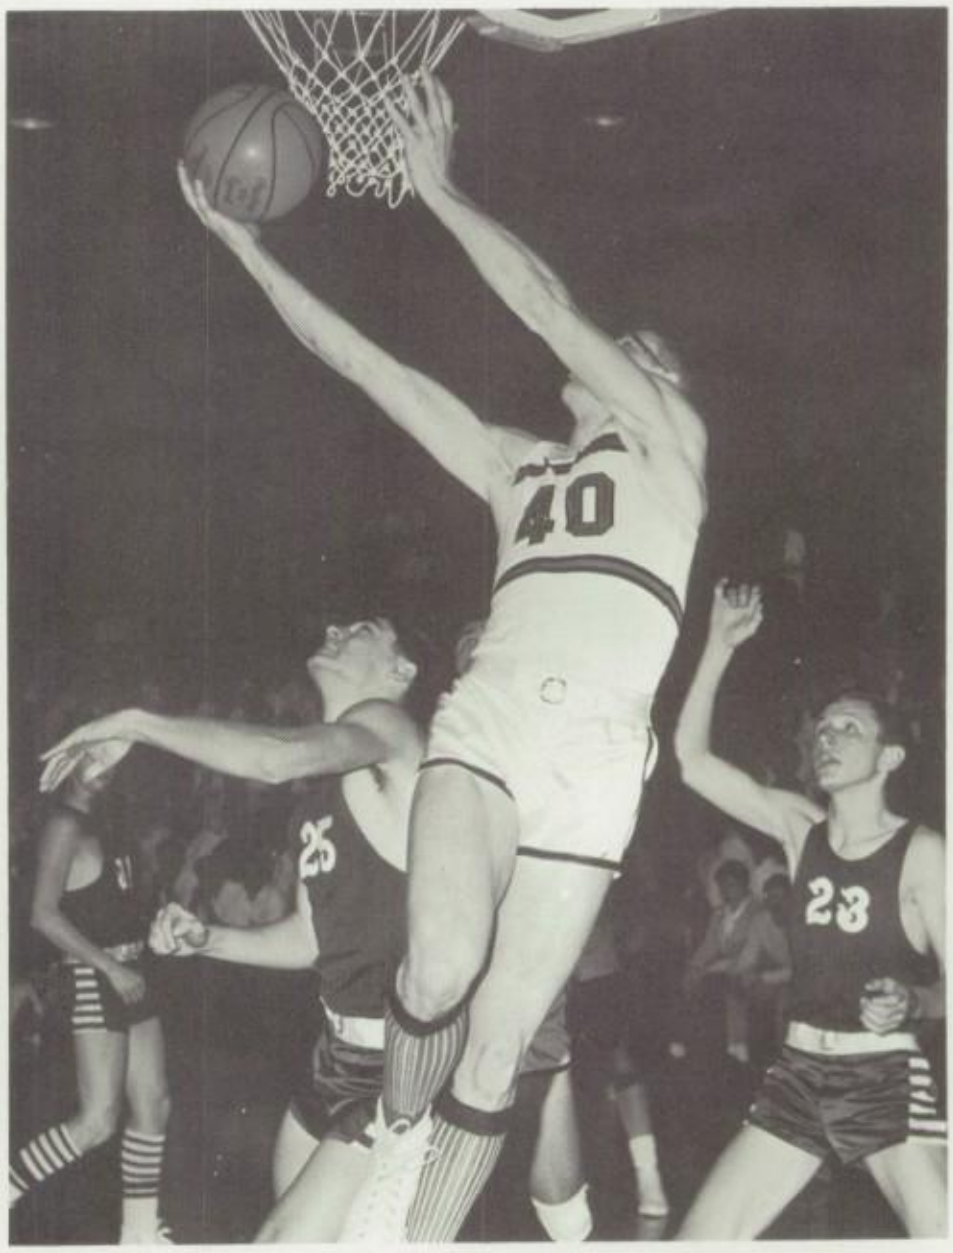
The best team Palatine has ever had, according to men who have watched Pirates play for over thirty years, packed the home gym and gave fans several heart in mouth thrillers.

In a 20-4 season Ron Kozlicki set three conference records: most individual points in a year, 362; 141 baskets in a year; and 884 NSC points in three years. In three years of competition Koz scored 1558 points.

From champs of the North Suburban conference, the Pirates by good margins defeated Warren, Barrington, and Libertyville to take the regional trophy: but the next game saw the Elgin Maroons take the Pirates 63-60 in an overtime.

Although Koz broke the records, this was no one-man team. Co-captain Bob McWilliams, Jerry Olson, Mike Leifer, and Lon Aggerbeck were playing with Koz for an offense good for 60.4 points per game and a tight defense that yielded 50.1.



Cutting in close to the basket, Mike Leifer springs from the floor to make two points against Zion-Benton.

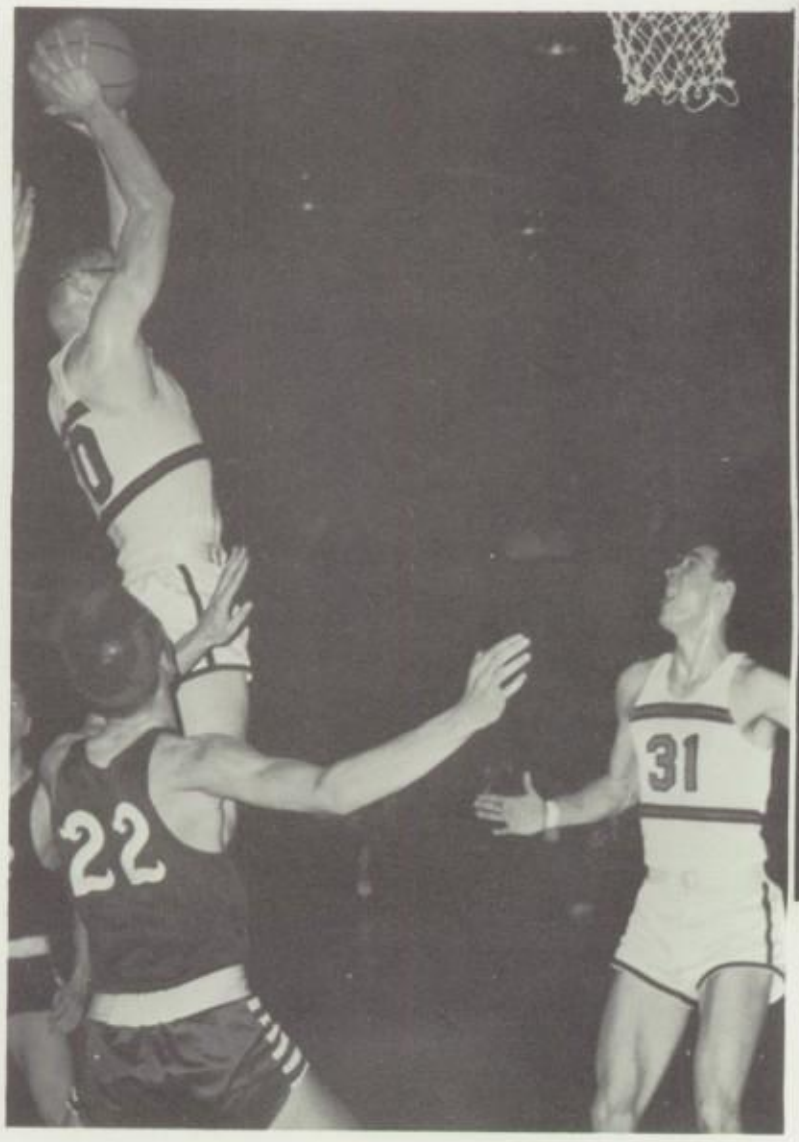
An anxious Coach Kolze, moving toward the conference title, has words with Aggerbeck, Kozlicki, Olson, Peterson, and Leifer during the Zion-Benton game.

Dependable Jerry Olson moves the ball down the floor past a nervous Z-B player.



"Will he make it?" Bob McWilliams waits eagerly to take the rebound if the shot fails.

Pom-poms flashing, skirts swinging, Palatine's cheerleaders are out on the floor or field for every sports contest, voicing their approval of the Palatine Pirates. These girls must practice well to stay organized on the cheers, since some are complicated. They have to be ready at all times to lead the crowd in a cheer, either for a specific occurrence, as a basketball free throw, or for general enthusiasm.

The Pirates' strongest backers, the cheerleaders are certainly the prettiest additions to the game performers.

Young Wrestlers Hold Great Promise

The sophomore wrestling team worked out a fine record of thirteen wins, three losses, and one tie. Co-captains Gordy Hughes and Harvey Fanning provided a good example for the boys by losing only one each. Fred Krempl and Bill Peterman lost only one each, and Bob Benjamin lost two. Coach Feutz's patience and skill with the boys is evident, and no one can dispute the scores.

Varsity Places Third in State

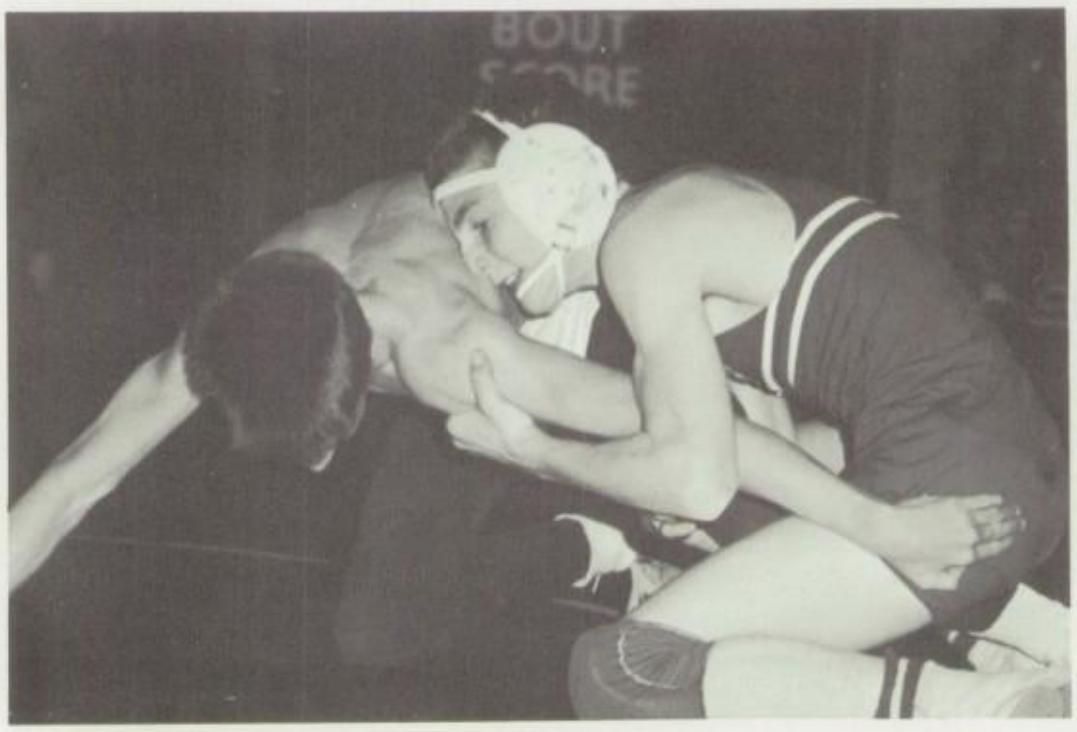
Palatine's wrestling squad, ably manned by such fine grapplers as George McCreery, Mike Gluck, Mike Long, Jim Nordin, and Seth Norton, came through with a 14 - 2 record. The team won the conference, placed second in the district, and took third in the state meet.

The exceptional matwork of McCreery, Norton, and Mike Gluck brought them highly coveted honors at the state meet: McCreery at 154 and Norton at 133 placed second, and Gluck became the new state champion at 103.



Mike Gluck, captain-elect is determined to pin his opponent.

Gymnasts in First Year of Competition

ROW TWO: Bruce McIntosh, Tom Hysell, Tom Gliot, Dewey Dixon, Bob Witmer, Edwin Ray, John Schaeffer, Larry Frye, Bill Long, Don Smith, Tom Schreiner, Dennis Weder, James Brown, coach.

Bruce McIntosh's stunt takes precision timing.

Palatine's gymnastics team, only in its second year, already has members of very high caliber. In its first year of competition, the team won seven meets and lost only four. Two gymnasts competed in the state meet at York; Steve Applehans coming in eleventh and Skip Ray seventeenth.

Only a few upperclassmen turned out for the sport, but these few turned out to be valuable. With talented underclassmen coming up, Coach Brown has no worries about building a fine team.

In their nineteen conference baseball games of the 1962 season, Coach Bailey's sluggers broke just about even with a 9 - 10 record. The North Suburban Conference competition was rugged, and the Pirates, captained by Mel Helms and Jim Donahoe, met their rival teams in many well-played games. Jim Smith led the team with a batting average of .411, and Wayne Kehe, a pitcher who won seven and lost five games, was voted most valuable player.

All coaches have anxious moments, and Coach Bailey is no exception.

Profiles in courage: Wayne Lewin, Tom Dettinger, Bob Ryniecki, and Bob Carver watch from the bench.

If a team ever had a really legitimate reason for patting themselves on the back, the Palatine sophomore baseball rookies certainly did last spring, 1962. The Pirates finished first in their conference with an admirable 13 - 3 - 1 record. Freshmen were busy all season too, though their 1 - 7 record did not compare with that of the sophs. Several of the team built up high batting averages, though; Ed Gilreath, for example, finished with .407, the top for the season.

With

For one of Palatine's least known teams, the varsity golf squad had one of the finest records of any sport in 1962. During the month and a half long season, Palatine went undefeated, winning all sixteen games and taking the conference title. The team went on to place first in the district and sixth in the state.

The Individualist in Mind

The varsity tennis team had an even season, with six wins and six losses. The team had five returning lettermen: Dave Paine, Steve Eckley, Jim Gustafson, Fred Moloznik, and Greg Keller. Best serve was attributed to Jim Gustafson; Greg Keller had the best ground game; and Steve Eckley was nominated most valuable player. With two seasons behind them, the team praised Coach Gavigan for outstanding coaching ability.

Meets; Set Records

Setting eight varsity track records was the record for the 1962 season. Although the Pirates did poorly on indoor meets, they inhaled deeply of the fresh air and took second in the Lake Shore meet, first in the DeKalb relays, first in the district, and first in the conference.

In setting records,
Duane Brooks made the 220 yard dash in 22 seconds.
Gene Meyer ran 880 yards in 1 minute, 57.8 seconds.
Bill Hartman ran the mile in 4 minutes, 34.4 seconds.
Bob Kukla, Ken Stahl, and Bill Petersen broke the 440 yard frosh-soph relay record in 47.9 seconds.
Mike Clark, Ken Stahl, Dick Sundling, and Duane Brooks took the 800 yard relay in 1 minute, 33 seconds.
Larry Travis, Dick Sundling, Duane Brooks, and Gene Meyer ran the mile medley in 3 minutes, 37.3 seconds.

In younger competition the frosh-soph team won four out of six meets and placed third in the Lake Shore and seventh in the North Shore meets. The freshmen won their four meets and placed first in class B in the Glenbrook Freshmen Invitational.

Stew Rogers clears the hurdle.

Doug Moss, left, record-breaker for Palatine on the high hurdles in '56, still hasn't lost his form.

Palatine Relays

A drizzly April 28 was the setting for the thirtieth annual Palatine Relays. This was the second year that Palatine had run in class A competition, and a good-sized crowd turned out to see how Palatine would do in the "big leagues." By afternoon, La-Grange had taken first in class A, Palatine third, and DeKalb had captured first in class B. Two school records were set this day, one for the two mile relay by Ron and Bob Frost, Gene Meyer, and Bill Hartman. The other was set by Andy Merutka, who put the shot 62' 9 3/4", breaking his own state record.

The Frost brothers make a hand-off.

Robert Negronida calmly comments to Joseph Rorke as Willie Hartman gaspingly strains for the finish line.

After the District Meet, Alvin Kulieke, principal of Prospect High, presents Palatine, through Andy Merutka, with the first place trophy.

Lettermen Personify Sportsmanship

One of the high points in the career of a young Palatine athlete is the distinction of becoming a letterman. Members of Lettermen's Club represent the finest of the school's sports-minded students.

A club activity this year was the sale of "Go Pirate" buttons. Another was the doughnut feast at the close of the football season for the teams and their fathers.

With graduation Palatine loses many of its lettermen. But these seniors leave behind them the organization's traditions for returning sophomores and juniors to carry on.

Council Members Sponsor Many Projects

On April 5, 1962, Duke Ellington came to Palatine. For weeks before, students had been selling tickets in all the area communities.

President Tom Nowaczek gives the speech that won him the approval of the upperclassmen in the fall campaign.

Striving to develop in all students the qualities of democracy, Student Council experienced another active year. The only organization which maintains direct contact between faculty and student body, Council communicates general school policies and coming activities through homerooms. Standing committees, the assembly programs, Homecoming, coke dances, and fund drives are among Council-sponsored activities. A community service was the Duke Ellington concert in spring of 1962.

One of Council's standard phrases is, "This is your student council." Non-Council members find they are welcome and can provide useful service to their school. Council attaches great importance to the individual student and his ideas.

Monitors Control in Halls

A problem created by the ever-increasing enrollment at Palatine is maintaining order in the halls. At the beginning of each year, hall monitors are chosen by Student Council. A monitor spends one study period a day seeing that students behave properly in the halls. Ten monitors, headed by a captain, are stationed in the halls each period. Duties of monitors are signing hall passes and checking lockers. Monitor captains are responsible for carrying messages from office to classroom and finding substitutes for monitors unable to be on their posts. A service organization, monitors are very useful in keeping peace in Palatine's halls.

The National Honor Society's book fairs benefited from Nancy Boston's fascination for literature.

Honor Students Set Example

Character, scholarship, leadership, and service are four traits inherent in each member of the National Honor Society. Each spring persons from the junior and senior classes are selected by a special faculty committee on the basis of these qualities. Students elected in their junior year form the active chapter of the organization.

Evening meetings were filled with plans for two book fairs and discussion regarding the purchase of a valedictorian plaque. The society was also in charge of the annual banquet for induction of new members.

Scientists

Science Club at Palatine is an individual interests club. Members carry on projects in areas of science for which they find special fascination.

Once a month the upperclass club members see a film on a particular area of science. The highlights of the year were the field trips to Argonne National Laboratories and to the American Can Company in Barrington.

Geographers

An opportunity for extending classroom knowledge was offered to Geography Club members, who met at least once a month this year. Students saw slides and made plans for field trips of geographical interest. Sponsored by Russell Draeger, the club had as officers Larry Trent, president, and Don Mead, vice-president. A small group, Geography Club hopes to add more members next year.

The CUTLASS was different this year. Mrs. Salzer, the new adviser, brought in many ideas for a better paper. The staff slowly took them up, then suddenly saw the light, began getting ideas themselves, and set the paper well on the road to recovery. Many people were invited to join the staff, and the hand-picked journalists improved the quality of the writing. Nearby Langer Printing company printed the biweekly publication, which featured pictures, students' creative work, and cartoons as well as journalistic writing.

News Is Recorded

SPOTLIGHT 1963 - another record for another year. Section editors Laurie Rogers, Judy Stone, and John Bock; assistant editor Pat Kehrer, and editor Pam Tietze were the leaders in preparing and presenting a new annual to Palatine High. Assisted by Mrs. Salzer, the staff spent Saturdays, Sundays, and after-school hours working for a better book.

The staff did other things besides work. Four staff member and Mrs. Salzer attended the convention at the Conrad Hilton during Thanksgiving vacation. In addition, the Cutlass and Spotlight staffs held a publications banquet in the spring.

Future Homemakers of America, a rather new club at Palatine, spent an active second year. Seven delegates attended the thirty-one school district FHA rally at Barrington. Here Sue Schwenk was Palatine's voting delegate, and Janet Bollinger was elected project vice-president. Other activities of the FHA included cake-decorating, candy-making, and hat-making demonstrations; Christmas and Valentine's Day parties; a mother-daughter tea; and a field trip. The Barrington FHA installed Palatine's officers, who were as follows: Mary Ann Trepus, president; Gail Ericson, vice-president; Karen Trepus, second vice-president; Mary Ann Rohr, secretary; Kathy Riske, treasurer; Janet Bollinger, parliamentarian; Anita Cicero, public relations chairman; Sue Schwenk, project chairman; and Janet Kelly, program chairman.

The William Fremd Club - thus have the forty Future Teachers of America designated their chapter of this national organization. FTA, newly formed at Palatine in 1961, is a club limited to upperclassmen. Its meetings are devoted to films and speakers, who this year were Mr. Plate and a representative from the Little City of Hope.

Juniors and seniors in FTA acquire insight in the art of teaching through practical experience. Some aid high school teachers in correcting papers and other small but necessary tasks, several traveling to building 2 for this work. Other students devote as many as three study halls a week to help grade school teachers.

Cheryl Skaja was a delegate to the FTA convention in Evanston concerning specialized teaching. Here Cheryl visits a classroom of handicapped children.

Goal of All Vocalists

A Cappella Choir: ROW ONE: Jeannette Campise, Pam Graham, Donna Veldhuisen, Sharon Friedman, Diane Robinson, Barb Schweigert, Pat Coey, Debbie Newberry, Esther Kruckenberg, Sue Thompson, Molly Cowling, Linda Szymowiak, Alison Breit, Mary Kay Edmunds, Ann Williams, Mr. Whiteside. ROW TWO: Carol Rogers, Sue Copple, Pam Polachek, Catherine Fezell, Sue Shaw, Beverly Straub, Laura Baylin, Jamie Sanders, Sandy Vogel, Sherry Past, Marianne Loss, Norma Wick, Sandy Parker, Ellena Militello, Roberta Murray, Janice Knez, Ruth Ganziano. ROW THREE: Judy Hosimer, Georgia Bergman, Sharon Bowman, Thomas Whiteside directs the four vocal groups.

Every day from the little-known recesses of Palatine's music room, sixty voices swell in earnest harmony as the mixed choir practices. Since membership is selective, each participant has had previous experience and training. Through diligence and effort, the choir reaps knowledge and enjoyment of music. Its excellence is exemplified in the annual Christmas and Spring Concerts. At the Illinois State Music Contest, 1962, the choir was awarded a second division rating. Besides joining the concert band in a special concert in spring, the group sang for church and community organizations.

All choir members agree that social functions are pleasant. Trips to the, The Sound of Music and Kungsholm's unique puppet opera were events which enhanced the year.

Basses and tenors blend in masculine harmony in the boys' glee club. An innovation at Palatine this year, this vocal ensemble is open to all interested freshman and sophomore boys. In preparation for further musicianship, the members gain knowledge in singing fundamentals while they explore the field of music.

John Shoemaker

Four years ago when John Shoemaker came to Palatine High, a forty-member band and a string group of eight made up the instrumental part of the music department. Today there are ninety-three students in three groups, a cadet band being the addition. Mrs. Wendy Brannan directs the orchestra.

The music organizations enter contests regularly. Last year the band received a first in state competition. Some or all parts of the music department participate in the Christmas, winter, and spring concerts and perform for Palatine area grade schools. The marching band plays during half time at many basketball and football games.

The Girls' Athletic Association of Palatine High requires the active participation of each of its members.

GAA meets after school two days a week for such sports as hockey, basketball, tumbling, trampoline, volleyball, and softball.

In addition to their regular activities, the girls in GAA entered a float in the Homecoming parade. They also sponsored a mother's night and a fathers' night, which provided fun for all.

For the Homecoming parade GAA built the float "Speedy."

Girls Manage and Officiate in GAA

During their regular P.E. period, Palatine High's leadership girls learn the rules and officiating techniques of various sports by studying rule books and playing the games in class. In addition to participating in their daily P.E. class, the girls individually go into other gym classes once a week to assist the teachers.

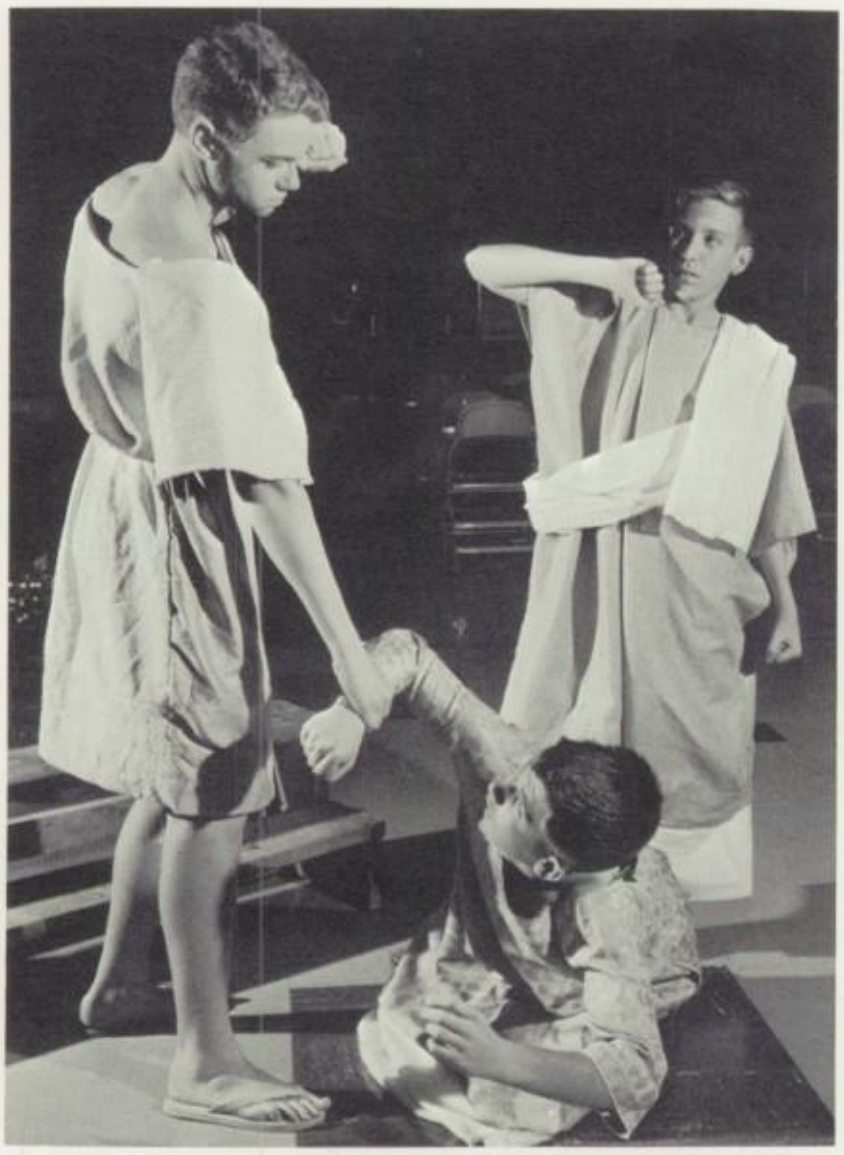
The library is well - known to every student at Palatine High, a study-concentrated center of continual activity. To aid in maintaining smooth library procedures, many students volunteer as assistants. Any person is eligible and becomes trained by the librarian in the intricacies of a good, working library. In devoting anywhere from two to five study halls a week to this experience, these assistant librarians benefit both themselves and their school.

Students Experiment with Theater in the Round



George Crossland appears to have the advantage over Ed Arnett as Rick Evans looks on during a scene of Androcles and the Lion.

Since building 2 has no stage, underclassmen have had a chance to gain experience in theater in the round.

Working with this type of production, the underclass Drama Club presented Time Out for Ginger in the spring of 1962. This comedy concerned a fourteen-year-old girl's ambition to achieve fame as a football player.

Ancient Rome was the setting November 16 and 17 when the underclassmen presented Androcles and the Lion by George Bernard Shaw. The play is the story of the Christian Androcles who was to be devoured by a lion - his pet - as punishment.

Mrs. Ann Taylor directed the casts and crews of both plays.

Janet Kelly as Agnes Carroll and Sharon Bowman as Lizzie, the maid, were leading characters in Time Out for Ginger.

Mr. Oshira, Tom Hysell, is in the foreground of this cast picture.

From Cutting Hall the audience of Tea-house of the August Moon was transported to the Orient, to Tobi-ki village on the island of Okinawa, where an army officer assigned to build a school was having big problems. What the school turned out to be can be pretty well guessed from the title of the play.

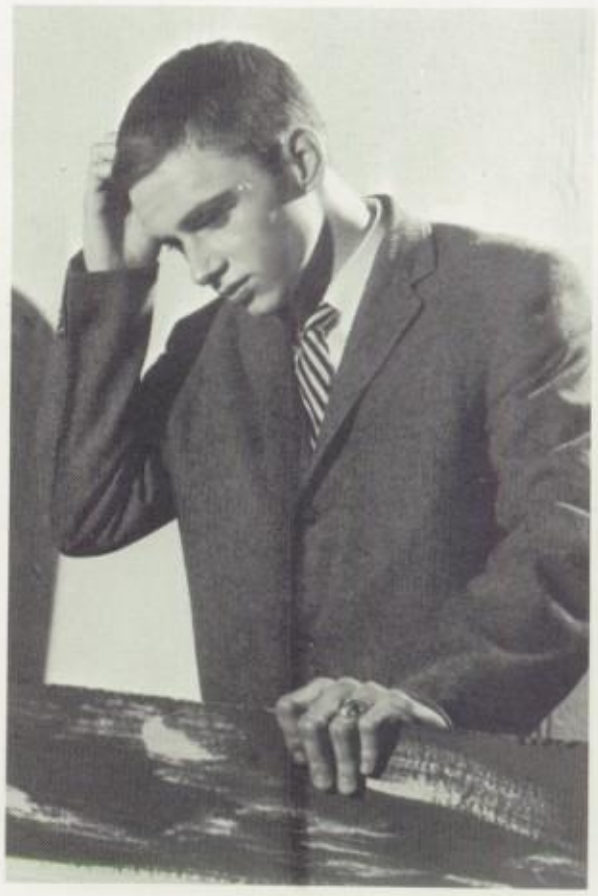
Merry Okinawans Reverse American Aid

Lotus Blossom, Rita Krueger, and Captain Fisby, Mark Krueger, met rather informally.

Small children and a goat supplemented the large cast of high school actors. Dan Humiston, Rita Krueger, Carl Fatz, and Mark Krueger played leading roles. For his portrayal of Captain Fisby, Mark Krueger received the award for the best actor of the school year.

"Captain Fisby! What are you doing?" Carl Fatz, left, played Colonel Wainwright III, and Mark Krueger was Captain Fisby.

Courtroom Drama Provides Suspense



Leonard Vole, played by Bruce McConachie, takes the witness stand.

Dan Humiston as Sir Wilfrid Robarts corss-examines Sharon Bowman, who portrayed Janet MacKenzie, the maid.

Typical Agatha Christie murder suspense was revealed as Drama Club presented WITNESS FOR THE PROSECUTION November 9 and 10, in Cutting Hall. The results of this British murder mystery were not disclosed to the cast until the final weeks of rehearsal, since Director Swenson had torn the last two pages from all scripts.

Double-casting was a feature of this performance, with most parts portrayed by different actors each night. Rita Krueger, Sue Bauer, Dan Humiston, Richard Starkeson, Clay MacDonald, Craig Anderson, Sharon Bowman, Lois Karbens, and Bruce McConachie had major roles. Miss Martha Risser was Earl Swenson's assistant in the play's direction. WITNESS FOR THE PROSECUTION provided wide opportunity for gaining beneficial experience in theatrical production.

Rita Krueger as Romaine testifies for prosecution lawyer, Clay MacDonald. Barrister Elly Van Wallene watches.

Drama Is

Thespians: ROW ONE: Doris Maloney, Jan Knez. ROW TWO: Diane Jordan, Mr. Swenson, adviser; Elly Van Wallene. ROW THREE: Marjorie Harz, Dennis Dorwick Dan Humiston, Georgia Bilas.

The Thespian Society, an honorary organization within Drama Club, has special requirements to be fulfilled by its members. For work on plays and in speech contests, Drama Club members can earn points, each of which represents about ten hours of work. Ten of those points make a student a thespian.

Thespians are members of a national organization and receive the national Thespian magazine. At the end of each year new members are initiated.

Separate schools provided variety in Drama Club productions last year. Juniors and seniors used the stage in Cutting Hall. Freshmen and sophomores performed in theater-in-the-round, since building 2 has no stage. Each club sponsored two three-act plays. In addition, juniors and seniors entered THE DEATH OF THE HIRED MAN, a one-act play, in the district speech contest.

The speech contest, although it was not officially sponsored by Drama Club, was entered primarily by club members. In ten different areas there was individual competition. In after-dinner speaking Elly VonWallene won third place at the contest.

Rita Krueger and Dennis Dorwick rehearse a scene from the junior-senior production, Witness for the Prosecution.

Help Each Other and Themselves

This is Santo Tringale, the sweet and cheerful little boy whom the upperclass Girls' Club has adopted through the Foster Parent Plan. He lives on the island of Sicily, in cramped quarters in the tenement section of Catania. His family's destiny is twined with the sea, as they are fishermen relying on it for their livelihood. Santo's father was drowned when a fishing boat capsized. His mother, little sister, and he had no choice but to live with his grandparents, who are themselves poor and in ill health. It is impossible to earn enough to provide for the basic needs of the family, let alone adequate medical care. Now, through the thoughtful generosity of the upperclass Girls' Club, Santo has found many dedicated foster parents. He is given the opportunity to live and grow with the help of many simple necessities Americans take for granted.

Service and sociability are key words to explain successful participation in Girls' Club.

The underclass division of Girls' Club is led by Jayne Schuckles, president; Karen Hargette, vice-president; Linda Ericson, secretary; Mickey Thornton and Diane Kehe, freshman representatives; and Sue Stenstrop and Sue Johnson, sophomore representatives, with Mrs. Geraldine Plate as their sponsor. Monthly meetings are sparked with frequent films and lectures by speakers on make-up, hair styling, and good grooming.

With membership open to any girl in school, Girls' Club combines friendship and interest in its effort to effect a worthy organization.

Upperclass Girls' Club officers: ROW ONE: Mrs. Meredith Newberg, adviser; Suellen Stahmer, vice president; Debbie Newberry, president. ROW TWO: Margaret Gantt, Judy Bicknase, secretary; Gayle Mangold, treasurer.

"To glorious Rome!" toast Mac Dodson and Fred Hodgdon with Jan Kramer and Marilyn Behrendt.

Roma Est Aeterna

About one hundred students and two teachers continued the ways of ancient Rome at Palatine this year. Latin Club members did what all the language clubs did: they held monthly meetings, built a Homecoming float, sold concessions at a basketball game, and went on a field trip. But with their Roman banquet they did not duplicate other language clubs. Stolas and togas graced the forms of upperclass Romans at the spring event, while the freshmen humbly donned their slave tunics and scurried about doing their masters' biddings.

Visions of Paris in Quiet Palatine

French Club, like most clubs at Palatine, was divided last year. Miss Louise Thompson was the adviser at building 1, and in building 2 Mrs. Mary Iber advised the club.

Both clubs went to the Art Institute to see the Versailles exhibit. Students from the two schools combined efforts to build a float for the Homecoming parade. A spring party was another social event French Club members enjoyed.

Kathy Johnson manned the French Club's cleverly captioned Homecoming float.

Underclass members: ROW ONE: Kathleen Coughlin, Susan Carroll, Judy Bollinger, Terry Eilering, Paulette Ziemke, Ruth Young. ¡Hola! And welcome to the club whose lingo combines Spanish with the universal language of Palatine High. In building 1, Dick Fiddes presided with Dick Olson as vice-president and Diane Morrison as secretary-treasurer. Their able underclass counterparts were Jane Lorenz, president, Pat Hysell, vice-president, and Pet Mickus, secretary. This year meetings were enhanced by talks on Mexico and South America. Club members viewed a film entitled Doña Bárbara. Tortillas and tacos were found to be sources of enjoyable experimentation by many as the Spanish Club took its traditional trip to a Spanish restaurant.

Schreiberei Highlights Year

Though the upper and underclass divisions of German Club functioned separately, all members on the second and third year levels were able to contribute to SCHREIBEREI, the club's magazine. An annual publication of the German organization, SCHREIBEREI is translated as "scribblings."

In April many third-year students entered an extremely difficult contest in translating, for which a first-prize trip to Germany was offered.

Junior-senior club officers for the year were Fred Moloznik, president; Norm Hansen, vice-president; and Alexis Kompelien, secretary. The freshman-sophomore club was led by John Schaeffer, president; Jacquie Bowman, vice-president; and Donna Taylor, secretary.

Upperclass: ROW ONE: Gayle Mangold, Joan Schaeffer, Tom Pearson, Alexis Kompelien, Fred Moloznik, William Schildgen, adviser; Lon Aggerbeck, Cecile Cole. Creativity Provides Delight

Putting their creative abilities to use, Crafts Club members suit diverse fancies in their original art work. Upperclass members visited the Art Institute this spring and later planned and presented a competitive art show.

Many art students entered contests to try their imagination and talent. Diana Kruemcke's "Elixier in Love" won the Northwest Poster Contest which was sponsored by the Lyric Opera Society.

Impressions Expressed Through Dance

At weekly meetings Modern Dance Club members varied traditional techniques and created new dances. Climaxing the club's activities was the spring show, for which the girls had been preparing much of the year.

Modern Dance Club was busy the whole year. Early in the fall, Rory Foster, a former Palatine student who is now on tour with a ballet company, performed for the members. At another time during the year, Palatine's club held a dance workshop for other shcools.

Sponsored by Miss Marie Chmielewski, the upperclass club had as officers Candy Hansen, president; Delores Zobel, vice-president; and Caroline Campbell, secretary. At the beginning of the second semester, Miss Susan Bodine formed a club for freshmen and sophomores.

Four dancers, Ellena Militello, Sue Langsdorf, Barbara Garry, and Delores Zobel create a mood with the interplay of shadows and light.

At the beatnik party, strangely dressed freshmen quarreled with conformity for an evening.

Mike Teach, the magician, and Marta Carpenter find magic confusing but interesting at the upperclass party "Circus."

Class Parties, Hours of Zany Fun

Gail Kniewel and her partner, whose identity remains secret, perform a mock wedding at the sophomore party "Monster Mash."

Miss Nancy Boehm plays box hockey with Mrs. Darlene Berg while Burton Showers looks on with great enthusiasm. At this upperclass party, "Abe Lincoln's Open House," no costumes were worn and sports were the activities.

Couples Dream up Moon River

Mike Hasley and his partner and Donna Bretsnyder and hers trip the light fantastic by the banks of Moon River.

Queen Sue Ramberg and her court were in the clouds. Kerry Wiberg and Bobbie Hominick, sophomore attendant; Curt Marker and Melanie Richardson, junior attendant; John Seehausen and Sue Ramberg; Karen Myer, senior attendant, and Ron Kozlicki, Barb Swan, freshman attendant, and Dick Kelliher.

For a rest, couples sat down and talked.

Couples danced to the strains of "Moon River" in a blue and silver setting at the 1962 Relays Dance. Silver stars glittering in the soft lights, blending with the mellow shades of blue and green, provided an easy-going and tranquil background for the successful dance. This atmosphere helped to make the April 28 Relays Dance a memorable one for all who attended.

Junior-Senior Prom

May 25, 1962 - a date to remember - the annual Junior-Senior Prom.

It was composed of the standard stuff of high school dances - tables, chairs, dance floor, chaperones, punch. The common-place and magic elements of which memories are made. Fragments and impression. Girls with white and gold programs. Orchids and evening gowns. Boys in white or blue dinner jackets. Red carnations and black bow ties. Continuous and constant music. The Grand Ballroom of the Hotel Morrison--Victorian and huge. Foxtrot. Waltz. The "Twist." Chaperones lingering on the outskirts, faintly out of place. Laughter. Words. Laughter. The tradition of the Grand March resolved in the bright pop of a photographer's flash bulb. Couples drifting away, two by two; the dance is ended. The surprise of the rain outside.

Held at Hotel Morrison

Lines lengthen as couples converge to form procession of the Grand March.

Double delight: Sherry Winters and Doug Moss.

Intermission for conversation: Judy Grove and George McCreery.

The Students

Everything is foreign to the freshman just entering high school. The long, wide halls are frightening when empty and more frightening when full of strangers. He wonders if ever he can get used to this new home ..... and slowly, he finds that he can.

Banquet Closes Football Season

Some Frosh Memories

Frosh ride into first Homecoming parade with a white tornado.

Among the first adults with whom Frosh become acquainted are Mrs. Rosemary Daughterty, nurse, and Mrs. Beata Carey, secretary to Gordon Anderson. Attendance is the problem here.

Coach Jim Brown eyes Roger Henson apprehensively.

F-S boys know how to get things done.

Entertainers at an early Soph party were Karen Harget, Jeannie Williams, Gerrie Tabbert, Martha Dwyer, Jane Lorenz, Carol Sheldon, and Diane Klop.

A full sports program kept many of the sophomores busy while the varsity coaches noted the promising prospects for the coming years. Boys such as John Warder and Seth Norton in football and Seth in wrestling were varsity heroes this year. Pictured here are Ron Schneckloth on the rings in gymnastics and a group of football players and cross country runners at the annual recognition dinner put on by the Boosters.

Mrs. Marie Caranci holds the interest of a class in the traditional sophomore course, geometry.

All Help

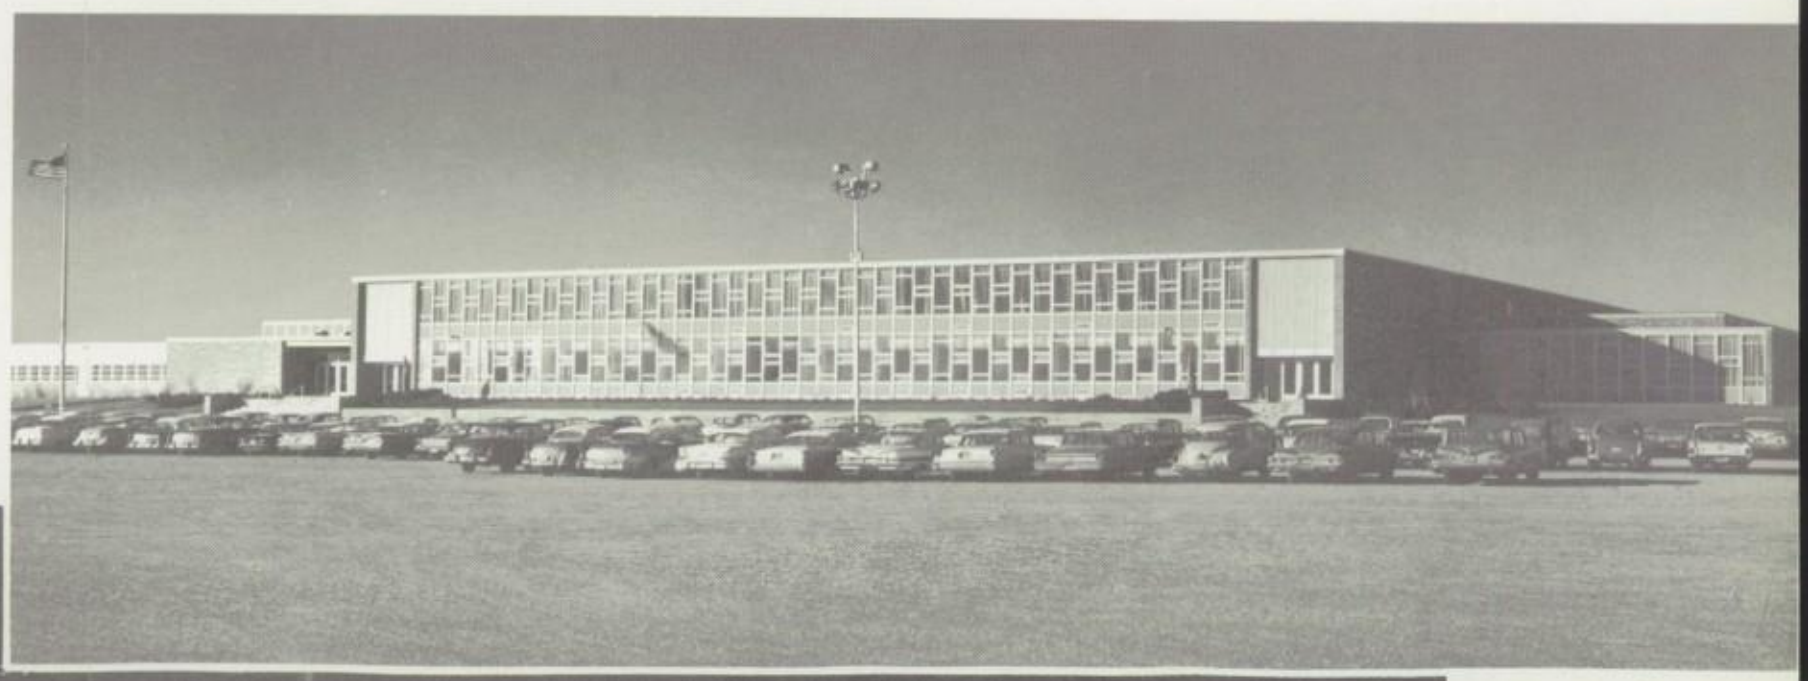
The Needy

The less fortunates have always been remembered at Pal High. Peggy Fales and Jack Rein note the poster that tells of the CARE drive held before Christmas. Proceeds from December coke dances and from an UGLY MAN contest increased the contributions.

Cars Are Necessary

Transportation is most important at Pal High. With the school district embracing many villages, the district provides free bus transportation to 2,000 of the 2,350 students. This takes a fleet of 27 busses under the direction of Claude Bailey. This is a typical after school scene.

Faculty cars stretch the length of Quentin school in the picture below, and the crowded parking lot at night is an oft repeated sight.



The Juniors' Leading Lady

Frightened, awed, the juniors enter,
Steeled to meet a reputation, not a teacher.
She surveys them with mirthful, knowing eyes,
Presiding and performing, she sets them all at ease,
Turns fear to respect, awe to asmiration.
On the classroom stage she directs the masters,
Longfellow, Lowell, Thoreau and Whitman.
Within the class she guides each student into creativity;
And they give their best and long remember,
Mrs. Gieske, scholarly and warm, in just the right proportions.

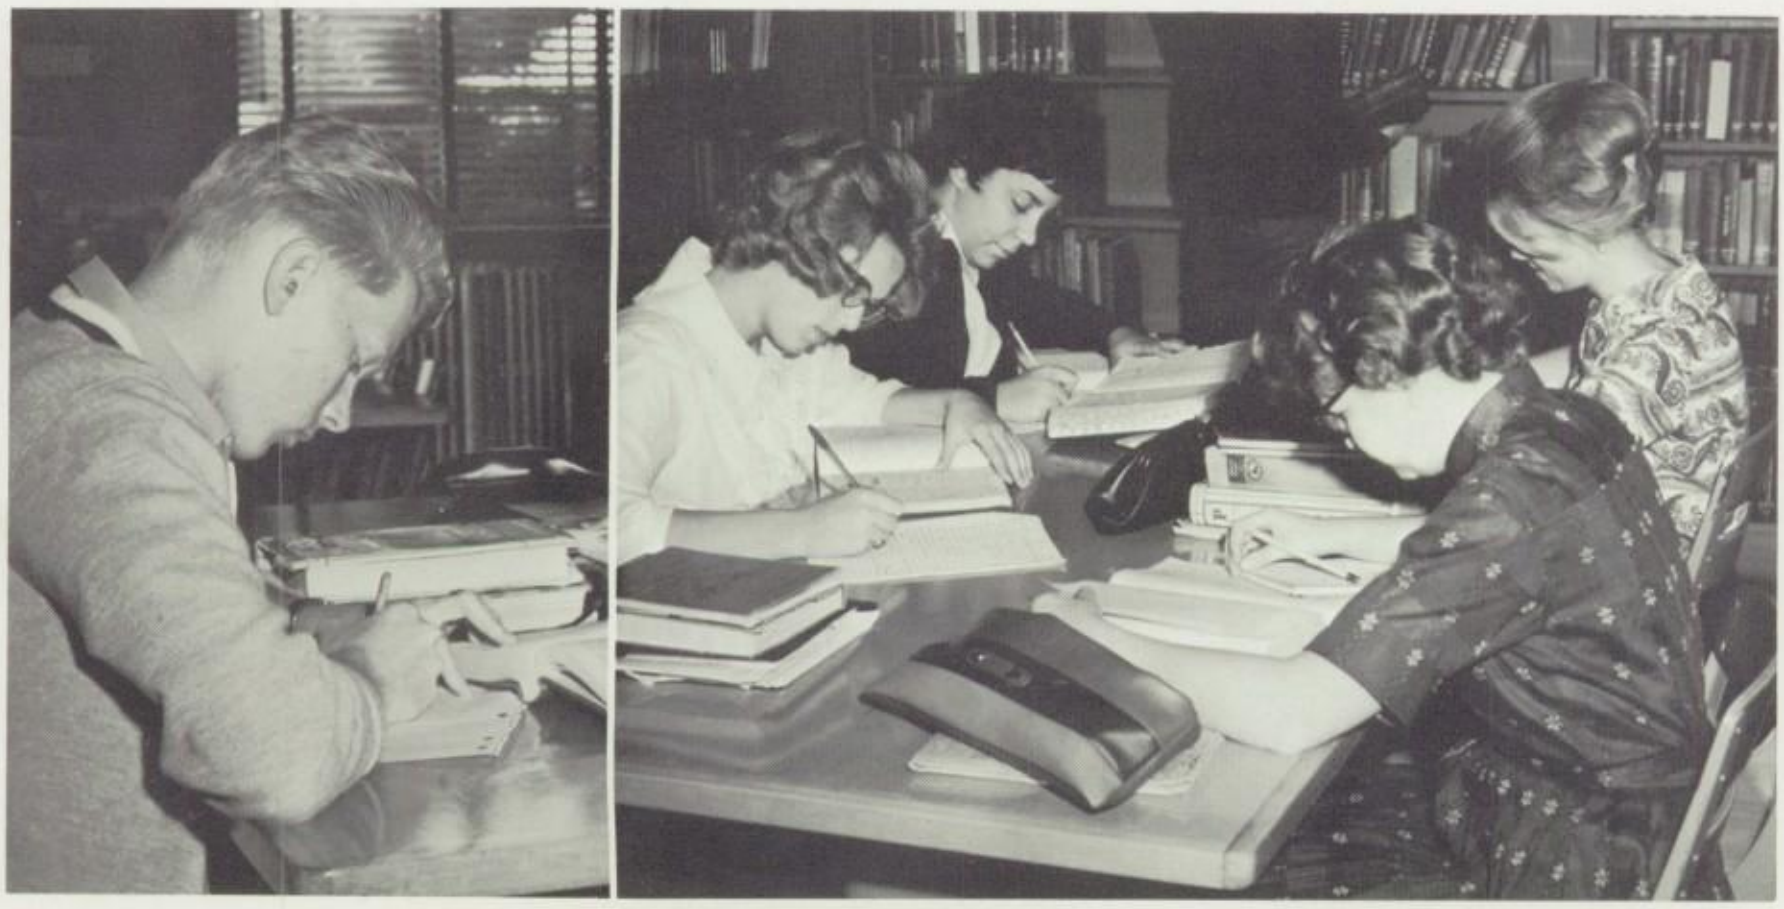
Juniors Discover Art of Studying



The library was the favorite spot for studying. Russ McCaskey was a solo worker. Sharon Hansen, Sharon Domeney, Betty Lou Linneweh, and Jan Knez observe the "no talking" rule.

Eating Is Important

Wherever two or three are gathered, there is food. Three times at noon, hungry students such as these juniors, Ed Hennessy, Ron Thompson, and Wayne Slahor, fill the Wood street cafeteria. Activities also present occasions for eating. Here at the annual Latin club banquet are Mrs. Marjorie Anderson, Fred Hodgdon, and Mac Dodson.

Fun-loving juniors were party-goers. Mary Richter twirls her hula hoop; and a group of circus goers, Kent Rueckert, Jan Nelson, and Barb Schweigert, talk to two con men, Tom Eldridge and Rodney Goben.

SENIORS STAR IN MANY FIELDS

Pam Tietze, Sue Plate, Nancy Boston, Sue Copple, Char Kaiser, Denise Anderson, George McCreery, Jerry Kusek, Jim Nordin, Fred Gluck, Ron Kozlicki.

Packed with potential, these seniors in a class of slightly less than 400 quietly assumed leadership, mixing academic honors with other activities.

Tied for top grades were Char Kaiser, cheerleader, Pam Tietze, SPOTLIGHT editor, and Sue Plate. Pretty Denise Anderson was elected Homecoming queen while Nancy Boston, runner-up in the National Teachers of English achievement awards, and Sue Copple, DAR citizen and Girls' Stater, appeared respectively in intellectual pursuits and student government.

Top scholars, Jim Nordin and Fred Gluck were leaders in wrestling as was George McCreery, a football great. Jerry Kusek and Ron Kozlicki became synonymous with cross country and basketball.

More leaders in student council were Jamie Sanders, President Tom Nowaczek, and Dick Fiddes, speaker and National Honor Society president. Pat Witek and Gail Dunlap edited a new and interesting CUTLASS while Dan Humiston picked up the character rolls.

And now, the Seniors of 1963. . . . . .

Term Papers Take Time

With the message from the University of Illinois, "Write, write, write!" taken seriously by senior teachers, the seniors found themselves engulfed in term papers. This scene at the card catalog with Karen Domek and Sue Berger was repeated many times. The library became their home away from home as seniors read read, read and wrote, wrote, wrote. Then finally the papers were tucked safely in the teachers' briefcases, and the seniors discovered that they had learned a great deal.

College Night Attracts Many

Shall it be college after graduation? Which one? Large or small? Far from home or really close? Coeducational? Private or state-supported? All seniors thinking of college were besieged by these questions, and many of them, such as Gail Dunlap, took their parents to college night last fall, where they met a great number of college representatives.

Work and Fun of Four Years Come to End

Seniors of the class of 1963 have a particular distinction, for they will be the last class to remember the Wood Street school as their high school. They are members of the last class to have spent all four years in this one building. Each room, each study hall, each after school activity belongs to Wood Street school. The plays were all in Cutting Hall. The "Home of the Pirates" sign hung above the gym entrance. The CUTLASS and SPOTLIGHT came from the penthouse, the little room above the girls' gym. The office was plain and friendly. The lovely old trees shaded the lawn. The members of the class of '63 tie their memories in a simple packet, the last small class of Palatine High.

A prayerful moment at 1962 Baccalaureate services. Dick Sundling leads a prayer as Superintendent Gerald McElroy and Dr. Carl F. Winters stand with bowed heads.

AND THEN GOODBYE. . . . . .

The class of 1962 waits solemnly for Baccalaureate services to begin.

For a few moments the departing seniors sit serenely, hands still, lips mute. This is the time of contemplation. For four years it has been books, assignments, activities, sports, buses to catch, appointments to meet. Now all of that is over. Quiet reflection sets in.

We are a part of an endless procession, infinitely reverberating in enthusiastic voices and echoing footsteps through the corridors of Palatine High. We are a part of it; yet we are alone. Now we are leaving the comfortable niche we have made for ourselves and are entering the new and frightening world of adulthood.

A diploma in our hands, our hearts and minds full, what are we carrying with us? We have learned facts, a few or many, according to how we have spent the last four years. These we take with us, and we take too a knowledge of ourselves and our capabilities, knowing that only as an individual will each become a comfortable member of the crowd. We leave confident in the knowledge that we are ourselves.

We leave and yet we stay. This parting from Palatine is not total. No, each leaves something of himself behind; something of his mind, his heart, his spirit to be intricately woven into the memories of the school, to become a part of the intangible spirit of Pal High. We linger and are gone.
